Council Concerns Remain
After USDA Meetings

by Diane Oberg

Cars "could stack all the way down to Cherrywood" Lane. That statement was not the way to convince the Greenbelt City Council that the planned road improvements are adequate to handle traffic generated by the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) headquarters facility to be constructed on Sunnyside Avenue between Rhode Island Avenue and the railroad tracks.

Council met with various representatives of the USDA twice on July 29, once in the morning with Representative Steny Hoyer and again at the regular council meeting that evening. By the end of the second meeting, the councilmembers had as many questions and concerns as when they started. They had new concerns as well, that the information they received in the morning appeared to contradict what they were told that evening. Councilmember Edward Putens, who is recuperating from surgery, was unable to attend the council meeting, although he attended the meeting with Hoyer.

Council had three main concerns: whether the road improvements are adequate to support the new facility, the extent of impact on the wetlands around Beaver Dam Creek, and why the city had not been kept as informed as the councilmembers felt they should have been. At the end of the meeting, the councilmembers voted unanimously to send letters to both Hoyer and the Secretary of Agriculture requesting a stop work order until these concerns are resolved. In addition, the city staff was directed to inform state officials as quickly as possible of council's concerns about the proposed road improvements.

City Solicitor Robert Manzi was directed to look into the possibility of obtaining a temporary restraining order stopping work if Agriculture officials do not comply with the city's requests. However, Manzi cautioned council that a temporary restraining order would generally involve a bond, which could be more expensive than the city could afford.

Project Details

Priscilla Carey, Associate Deputy for Procurement Operations of USDA, said that the complex is part of the department's work towards placing all employees in government-owned instead of leased space. She added that the issue of which agencies should be housed in the complex is being reexamined.

Jeff Fuller, Managing Principal, DNC Architects, presented the project plans and explained why the Sunnyside site was chosen (although he noted that his firm only commented on the three sites proposed, and had no decision-making role). One rejected site was flat and close to a number of residences; a second near the Baltimore-Washington Parkway had poor access and would require major sewer construction. The selected site, he said, had a large stand of trees to provide a buffer, as well as a stand of trees around which the buildings could be clustered, providing an amenity.

Fuller said that the company has developed a "realistic clearing line, that along with a fertilization program and selective pruning, should preserve the central stand of trees. He said that an attempt was made to save the trees along Sunnyside but, in the end, they had to be removed. Landscaping is planned to replace this buffer when construction is complete.

The complex will consist of two 2-story buildings and two 3-story buildings, with a relatively low ratio of parking to size. Roughly 1,500 employees will be housed in this complex, with 900 parking places provided. Project Manager Michael Sazonov said that a traffic management plan has been developed to encourage employees to take Metro to work. The limited number of parking places is designed to encourage carpooling and use of Metro. The first employees are expected to move to the new facility in December 1997.

Road Improvements

Dave Murray, of Ben Dyer Associates, described the planned road improvements. These are largely limited to Edmonston Road (Kenilworth Avenue), where two additional traffic lanes will be constructed between Cherrywood Lane and Sunnyside. The new lanes will be built "where the sheep are" on the northbound side of the road. The rural nature of the road will be retained, with no curbs and gutters installed. After Sunnyside, the road will revert to the current two lanes.

Only minimal improvements are planned to Sunnyside, with curb and gutter to be installed near Tucker Road (at the light). The area between the railroad tracks and Edmonston Road will

Mayor's Letters Seek Help
In Search for Solutions

by Elaine Skolnik

"The questions you outline in your letter get to the heart of our concerns," said Mayor Antoinette Bram in her own July 30 letter to Congressman Steny Hoyer. She was referring to Hoyer's letter the day before to Wardell C. Townsend, Jr., Assistant Secretary of Administration for the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA). Hoyer was requesting that Townsend provide written answers about issues dealing with the "cost-effectiveness and benefits" of alternative locations for the USDA complex; with impacted wetlands, their size and mitigation; with road improvements and those responsible for their implementation; and with ways to minimize traffic, particularly by encouraging use of Metro.

"...It is not our intention to damage the project itself, its location is our problem," Bram stressed. On behalf of council, she requested that Hoyer "intervene to stop this project at this time until all these questions can be answered."

Mayor Bram also expressed council's concerns about the traffic impact of the project in letters to Charles Watkins, District Engineer for the Maryland State Highway Administration, and Betty

County, State Comments
On USDA Roadway Needs

by James Giese

City Solicitor Robert A. Manzi has obtained a variety of correspondence from the Prince George's County Department of Public Works and Transportation (DPW&T) relating to road improvements that the department believes are needed to support the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) headquarters facility on Sunnyside Avenue. The 350,000 square foot campus-style office facility is expected to house 1,500 employees. Some of the suggested road improvements are being done, others are not. The following is a list of improvements mentioned that are not planned to be undertaken.

Rhode Island Ave. at
Sunnyside

In an April 19, 1995 letter to Michael V. Sazonov, Project Manager for the office complex, County Executive Wayne Curry lists the need for additional lane lengths for queuing on eastbound Sunnyside at Rhode Island Ave. as "the only remaining item requiring further study." The federal government is not planning to do any improvements to Sunnyside west of the USDA property. At that time the county wanted the two-lane eastbound Sunnyside approach to be lengthened to at least 200 feet plus a 100 foot tapered section in order to handle expected traffic queuing. The county also said that Sunnyside needed to be widened east of Rhode Island Avenue for an unspecified distance, using the area occupied by the existing gravel shoulder.

In an April 18 memo, J. Rick Gordon, Associate Director for Engineering at DPW&T, reported that the distance from the interchange of I-95 with U.S. Route 1 to Sunnyside Avenue was 1.3 miles. From the Kenilworth Avenue exit of the Beltway to Kenilworth/Edmonston and then to Sunnyside was 4.5 miles. He concluded that "It is doubtful that motorists from the west would utilize the longer route, as the counterflow congestion (northbound in the morning and southbound in the afternoon) on US 1 is minimal."

Earlier, on February 2, 1995, Neil J. Pedersen, Director of Planning and Preliminary Engineering for the Maryland State Highway Administration (SHA) had expressed concerns about this Edmonston Rd/Sunnyside Ave intersection to Sazonov. He stated that SHA files indicated that the level of service (LOS) at this intersection is worse than indicated in the Final Environmental Impact Statement (EIS) for the USDA complex. He recommended traffic recounts at this intersection to verify that "an acceptable LOS with the proposed off site improvements would actually result."

In November 1994, then County Executive Parris N.

Glendening wrote to Wardell C. Townsend, Jr., Assistant Secretary for Administration at USDA that "Roadway improvements, along the northbound and southbound approaches at the Rhode Island Avenue/Sunnyside Avenue intersection, are required." In addition, Glendening stated that "Traffic signal phasing changes and equipment modification, or possibly a complete rebuild" were required at that intersection. In an October 24, 1994 memo Gordon had advocated two-lane approaches for at least 300 feet on both the northbound and eastbound approaches, plus taper. He also recommended providing two lanes for at least 500 feet east of the intersection plus an adequate taper.

Transportation Management Program

Tom Masog, of the Transportation and Public Facilities Planning Division at DPW&T raised concerns about the transportation management program for the USDA facility, which was contained in Modifications to the BARC 1983 Master Plan and the Transportation Management Program (TMP) for this facility. He noted that "although the site is very close to the Greenbelt Metrorail Station if one considers straight-line distance, it is not at all close when actual over-the-road distance is considered." He called for the document to identify reasons why a direct roadway, bikeway, or pedestrian connection between the Greenbelt station and the USDA facility was "not feasible or desirable." He called for more information on the frequency of shuttle bus service between the station and the site, and urged USDA to consider the possibility of integrating shuttle bus service into Metrobus operations. Finally, he recommended placing the buildings closer to Sunnyside Avenue in order for their access to be more convenient to existing tran-

Bomb Scare

Greenbelt police closed Ivy Lane on Monday, August 6, at approximately 2:45 p.m. because of a bomb scare. According to the Greenbelt Police Department spokesperson, officer George Mathews, a construction crew working in a vacant suite on the third floor of 6411 Ivy Lane found a suspicious package under a radiator. The word "Bomb" was written on the outside.

Greenbelt police evacuated everyone from the building and called the Prince George's County Bomb Squad.

For three hours the road remained closed. It was opened only after an examination of the package revealed there was no bomb inside. Investigation is continuing by the County Fire Department.

Amazed!

I was amazed to read the article about the proposed Cherrywood Lane changes that was published in the July 25 News Review. After reading the article, I found it hard to believe that I had actually been present at the council worksession on July 17. Although most of what Betsy Likowski wrote was correct, she failed to mention any of the positive comments that were made by the various groups in attendance. I am sorry that this workshop was not videotaped since I am sure residents would have an interesting time comparing the taped footage with the News Review article.

Do I need to take everything the News Review reports with a large grain of salt? Not only do Ms. Likowski's personal biases shine through in this article, but it does a disservice to the community.

Deadline For Nomination

August 12 is not far off. That's the date when nominations are due for this year's Outstanding Citizen of Greenbelt. Elsewhere in this issue a nomination form has been printed which can be used to name that important person. Who will it be in 1996?

The Sound Scene

by Nick Mydra

"The lake is alive with the sound of music," to kind of steal a musical phrase. Last Sunday at Greenbelt Lake, in an evening performance, park visitors heard music from the University Community Band of College Park. Under the baton of John Wakefield, Buddy Attick Park was the site of a July 18 concert that featured a wide variety of music, including marches, show tunes, and classical pieces.

The band formed in 1994, has a roster of 100 members, but only about 65 performed Sunday. Comprised of Washington D. C. area amateur musicians, the organization is sponsored by the University of Maryland and the Dept. of Music.

John Wakefield, Director of Bands at UMCP led off the evening with "Coat of Arms" march by Kenny. The finale gave us Sousa's "Gallant Seventh March." In between we heard musical selections such as Bach's "Prelude & Fugue in B flat Major," "Ave Maria" by Biebel, and Schubert's "Andante Con Moto." The show tunes featured George Cohan and Irving Berlin.

The band seemed most comfortable when playing the marches and other lighter pieces, while the classical works were not played with as much confidence. Two of the highlights were "Coronet Carillon" featuring the trumpet section, and "Lassus Trombone" with eleven trombone players standing while they showed their stuff.

The hour-long concert was an enjoyment for all to hear. It's too bad the acoustics are less than desirable. Again, as always, if you missed it - maybe next time.

Festival Notes

by Konrad Herling

Each year, the Labor Day Festival selects an Outstanding Citizen and a "Miss Greenbelt." The processes for selecting the two are far different, but there is one criterion in common, and that is that person's sense of commitment to the community. Many observers will recall current Miss Greenbelt Rachel Petty's comments during last year's pageant that she wanted to "give something back" to Greenbelt after the City had given so much to her with its recreational, cultural and social offerings. Otilie Vail Allen, Mary Linstrom and all their predecessors had substantial histories of giving something back to Greenbelt. This tradition will continue this year and it is only part of what makes the festival special.

Outstanding Citizen

As previous articles have indicated, time is running out. This coming Monday, August 12, 1996 is your last chance to get your nomination in. Please drop off your nomination to Edward Birner at 13-N Ridge Rd.

Miss Greenbelt Pageant

The prospective "Miss Greenbelts" performed recently at Green Ridge House, providing songs and dance from Broadway shows. These young women will be offering car washes at the Holy Cross Lutheran Church, this Saturday, August 10, from 9:30 am to 3 pm. Meanwhile, in preparing for the pageant, they have been learning and developing skills as to how to work with others, and how best to present oneself before hundreds, if not thousands of observers. Maintaining a good posture, establishing eye contact with interviewers and the audience, and walking in a confident, but not cocky, manner may seem easy, but try doing that under the microscope of a large audience. Responding to questions with articulate, well thought-out answers to tough questions if one has a couple of minutes to think may be fairly easy for most of us, but when you have five to ten seconds, the tension can mount considerably.

After interviewing the eight candidates for Miss Greenbelt, I came away quite impressed with their poise, intelligence, a sense of caring for their community and friends as well as a sense of direction with what they were going to do with their lives. For example, 14 year-old Angela Shehadi, a freshman at Eleanor Roosevelt Senior High, is in ERHS's ROTC Program, and has received numerous awards for leadership. A softball player with the Boys & Girls Club 16 & Under team, she has taught basics to a local Brownie troupe, and translated yellow pages ads written in English into Spanish for the Spanish speaking community. Some of her hobbies include reading, and composing jazz solos. Her goal is to get a Ph.D. in physics from the Air Force Institute of Technology. Heather Villalba, an 18 year-old senior at ERHS, loves to write stories and use her artistic energies to create paper sculptures. Her favorite subjects are history and science. She wishes to attend Gallaudet College and would like to teach sign language. Heather Hart, a 17 year-old senior at ERHS, has been active in food and clothing drives for the needy, and serves as a math mentor for students at Robert Goddard Middle School. Her hobbies include photography and favorite subjects are chemistry and physics. While she is busy with these activities and interests, she also works part-time at Giant. She hopes to enter the field of physical therapy as a profession.

This talented group also includes Katherine Patsas, a 16 year-old senior at ERHS. She taught herself to play piano (her first piece was Beethoven's 'Für Elise') two years ago and is now playing more challenging pieces. She is currently working part-time, as part of an apprenticeship, at American Hair Salon. Ultimately, she'd like to pursue a degree in animation at the Art Institute of Philadelphia and work professionally as an animator. Katie Chroniger, 15 year-old student at Roosevelt, has volunteered many hours to bake sales raising funds for World Vision, an organization devoted to feeding the hungry. She is in her second year of studying sign language and offers sign interpretation for school plays at Roosevelt. Jeannette Don Bullian, a 16 year senior at ERHS, is part of the CDE Program, where half of the day is spent in school, and the afternoon working at A. Anthony Mobile Vehicle Service. Her second language is Italian. Now in her fourth year of study, she hopes to attend the University of Maryland where she will major in Italian and Business Management. Christine Reese, a 14 year old at ERHS, asserts that her best subject is algebra. She works well with friends who are experiencing emotional difficulties and envisions herself counseling runaway teens. Completing this brief survey is Marissa Troeschel, a 15 year-old sophomore, whose favorite subjects are history and drama. She's in her first year with ERHS's drama program and tried out with its improv team. She played the roles of Mary Jane, a runaway on the streets of New York and Mrs. Greer, Mr. Warbucks' housekeeper in the Prince George's Teen Theater summer production of "Annie." She would like to teach either history or theater.

Other Developments:

The door's still open for participation in this year's Talent Show. Auditions will be held the next Wednesday evenings, August 14 and 21 at 7 p.m. at the Community Center's Rehearsal Room. For more information, call Dennis Lewis at 552-9078.

Golden Age Club

by Dolores Capotosto

As August rolls by, Golden Agers can be glad about the wonderful summer this year. Not only has it been one of the coolest in history but also one of the wettest. That makes for a good growing season, and the flowers all around town are especially pretty.

Thanks to John Taylor for enlightening club members about the Toastmasters Clubs and for showing how widespread this organization has become. There is a club that meets locally. Those members who are interested in developing public speaking skills should see John.

A video on "Alaska — the Inside Passage" will be shown at the August 14 meeting. Ellie Rimar is pinch-hitting for Mary Geiger this month. Thanks Ellie!

The August 22 trip on the schooner "Nighthawk" is full and has a standby list. Members had better get their trip reservations arranged early. See the Travel Committee members: Irene Owens, Chris Elliott or Walter Zahm at the meetings.

The tour of Winchester, VA, is scheduled for Thursday, September 26. There are two trips coming up in October: the overnight tour of the New York Islands on October 21 and 22, and "Passport into History III" on October 29.

Stay active and come out to the meetings.

Greenbriar Hosts Cancer Swimathon

Greenbriar Community Association and the American Cancer Society, Prince George's County Unit, invite swimmers of all ages to join the fight against cancer by taking part in Greenbriar's 2nd Annual Swimathon to Conquer Cancer. Those who can't swim can still participate by walking laps in the training area of the pool. Participants can sign up at the pool or Community Building. Swimmers and walkers should obtain pledges from family, friends and the community, based upon the number of laps completed during a four hour period. Last year Greenbriar raised $2,500. The community hopes to meet or exceed that amount this year.

Swimmers/walkers, sponsors, donations of merchandise to be used as gifts for swimmers, and food are needed, as well as volunteers to help during the day of the event. The Swimathon will be held on Saturday, August 24, from noon to 4 p.m., at the Greenbriar pool, 7600 Hanover Parkway. Entertainment, prizes, games and refreshments will be provided throughout the day. The entire community is urged to come out and show support for this worthy cause. For more information, please call Barbara Parham at 301-441-1096.

Reiki Healing Circle

Everyone is invited to relax and re-energize at the Reiki (RAY-kee) Healing Circle, on Friday, August 9, 7:30 - 9 p.m. in the Multipurpose Room at the Greenbelt Community Center. The ceremony consists of a guided meditation. A sign-up sheet will be available for free mini-Reiki treatments on Sunday, August 11. For further information, call Tom Barlett at 345-0410.

GEAC Meeting

Street Light Improvement Delays Concern Residents

by Kerana Todorov

According to a July 26, 1996, memo from city inspector John Lowe to Acting City Manager Mike McLaughlin, Pepco has told the City of Greenbelt that the Hanover Parkway lighting improvements are an "engineering challenge." Also, outages during recent storms prompted Pepco to redirect manpower from nonemergency to emergency services, further delaying the projects along Hanover Parkway.

"I would be more sympathetic if that were a recent request," said Jim Hartman of Hunting Ridge at the last Greenbelt East Advisory Committee (GEAC) meeting held on Thursday, August 1.

Dorothy Pyles of Greenbriar said "Some of these people should come and drive at night so that they know what we're talking about."

In another matter, GEAC members discussed the petition to close the Baltimore-Washington Parkway overpass. The petition had been brought up at a city council meeting on June 10.

One discussed alternative to closure is the installation of a camera. Councilmember Edward Putens said that surveillance tapes recording crimes had impressed judges presiding over the trials of young offenders.

But councilmember Judith Davis said that a surveillance camera at the overpass could create a false sense of security and could not prevent something from happening. Furthermore, Davis said, a victim attacked at the overpass could sue the city because the police would not get there any faster.

GEAC's next meeting is Thursday, September 5, at 7:30 p.m., at Windsor Green.

Greenbriar Hosts Moonlight Swim

Greenbriar and Glen Oaks residents are getting ready for a night of fun at the Moonlight Swim for Adults on Saturday, August 10, from 8 p.m. - midnight. Entertainment will be provided by Kenney Holmes of SoundIdeas. Kenney has been slated as "the world's greatest one man band." Light refreshments, including munchies, sodas, and cold beer will be served.

Residents are encouraged to buy tickets in advance and save. In case of rain, entertainment will be held in the Terrace Room. For further details please call Barbara Parham at 301-441-1096.

At the Library

It's movie time at the library! Popcorn Thursdays are scheduled for children ages 3 - 5 August 15, August 22 and August 28 at 10:15 a.m.

"Really Rosie" will be shown August 15. "Winnie the Pooh and the Honey Tree" will be shown August 22.

"Mufao's Beautiful Daughters" and "Brave Irene" will be shown August 28. For information, call (301) 345-5800.

remain three lanes, one in each direction plus a right turn lane onto Edmonston. The railroad crossing will remain at grade.

The site can also be reached via Rhode Island Avenue or U.S. Route 1, although no improvements are planned for those roads or their intersections with Sunnyside.

The councilmembers were skeptical that these improvements would be adequate to support the complex. The major area of concern is Sunnyside. Mayor Antoinette Bram asked Murray whether it made sense to him to have a widened Edmonston Road feeding traffic onto an unimproved Sunnyside Avenue. Murray's answer that he only designed the road improvements others had already planned, did nothing to satisfy council. Besides Sunnyside's being a narrow road, not designed to hold that volume of traffic, the councilmembers were also concerned about the potential traffic problems resulting from trains shutting down the crossing, and the occasional flooding of Sunnyside, which can make the road impassable. Sazonov said that this is just one of many roads that are in floodplains. Workers can also enter and leave the site via Route 1, he pointed out. All traffic counts, he said, show that the road improvements are adequate.

Murray said that his workers have been watching the trains, as well as getting schedule information from CSX and MARC. Both of these sources, he said, indicate that rush hour trains are generally fairly short, shutting down the intersection for one to three minutes. Longer trains generally cross during the day, such as between 1 and 2 p.m., when the crossing can take up to 10 minutes. It was at this point that Murray made his remark that if Sunnyside fills up during train crossings, traffic could "stack up" all the way down to Cherrywood, if need be. (His comment was offered as an illustration of the road capacity, not as a projection of future gridlock).

"Flim-Flamming?"

Councilmember Judith Davis told Sazonov that council has the perception that "you are flim-flamming us." Although he may not think that's true, she said, "we do". She charged that the USDA was taking care of just enough road improvements to get past the environmental impact review, but that in the future improvements to the railroad crossing and Sunnyside Ave. will be required, costing taxpayers millions of dollars to "clean up all the problems you're leaving".

No councilmember argued when Greenbelter Norm Weyel called the proposed road system "unbelievably stupid."

Any improvements to Sunnyside would take the wetlands impact over an acre and require a higher level wetlands permit and a public hearing.

Robert Manzi, City Solicitor

If a private developer put forward this plan, said Councilmember Thomas White, it would be "laughed out of" any forum as having inadequate access to serve "this poorly designed site."

The USDA has said that it was necessary to build upon government owned land, to reduce project costs. However, Councilmember Rodney Roberts questioned this rationale, noting that over $3 million is budgeted for road improvements, which would not be required if the buildings were constructed on the Metro station property.

The councilmembers also were concerned that the information they were receiving from USDA officials did not match what they had learned from other sources. Sazonov said that "at this point" state and county officials had not raised concerns about the lack of Sunnyside Avenue improvements. However, both Manzi and a citizen from College Park told council that state and county officials have told them that they did recommend improvements to that road.

Wetlands

Council was also concerned about the extent of wetlands damage resulting from the complex and accompanying road improvements. Murray said, at the evening meeting, that just three-fourths of an acre of wetlands would be constructed. The councilmembers, particularly Roberts, questioned this estimate. Roberts also said that in the morning meeting, they were told that up to 1.5 acres could be affected. The city had earlier hired a consultant to study the environmental impact of the project. However, the city had assumed that improvements would be made to

Sunnyside.

Manzi told council that it is obvious why no improvements to Sunnyside are planned. Any improvements to that road, he said, would take the wetlands impact over an acre and require a higher level wetlands permit and a public hearing.

Roberts was also skeptical of the required construction of "replacement wetlands." According to Murray, the three acres of replacement wetlands required will be constructed on the airport tract of BARC. Roberts asked how such new wetlands could perform the same job of filtering water as do the mature wetlands that will be destroyed. He also charged that about half of the trees on another replacement site have died.

The difficulty with the current site is that the access problems can probably not be resolved without increasing the amount of wetlands damage. Thus, the councilmembers would prefer that an alternate site be selected. The USDA has shown no interest in relocating the complex.

Information Gap?

Council complained to Sazonov that they had been kept in the dark about the plans for the complex. Sazonov disagreed, saying that city representatives had attended a number of meetings.

While not denying that, Roberts countered that they had been kept out of others and charged that the project was being "rushed through" so no one could comment and find out the facts. Sazonov agreed to keep the city informed in the future, but noted that the city has no regulatory authority regarding roads or wetlands, and that USDA had notified state and county officials of its plans during the design phase, instead of merely submitting final plans as required by law.

ROADWAY

Other State Concerns

In his February 2 letter, Pedersen raised a number of other concerns besides the Sunnyside/Rhode Island Avenue intersection. He notes that the USDA facility will generate significantly higher traffic volumes than will the Master Plan use recommendations of open space or low-density residential use and that the level of service at most intersections will be degraded. He declared that improvements to the Route 1 and Edmonston Road intersections with Sunnyside Avenue, Yuma Street, Liberty Drive, Ivy Lane and Crescent Road and the I-95/I-495 ramps were necessary.

Although only 15 and five percent of the trips generated are expected to be towards northbound Route 1 and Edmonston Rd respectively, Pedersen noted that a number of intersections were at capacity and experience heavy congestion. He felt that the intersections of Route 1 with Powder Mill Road, Rhode Island Avenue and of Kenilworth Ave with Powder Mill Rd should have been included in the Prince George's County Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission list of analysed intersections.

Pedersen also contended that SHA files indicate that the existing LOS at the intersection of Edmonston and Sunnyside is worse than was indicated by USDA. He advocated traffic recounts be taken there.

Of greatest interest to Greenbelters is Pedersen's comment that one of the proposed off-site improvements was to be the widening of Crescent Road to provide a second left turn lane to southbound Kenilworth Avenue. However, "Discussion on January 17, 1995 between SHA's Project Planning staff and representatives of the...[USDA]...site revealed that the City of Greenbelt is opposed to improvements that would impact any City owned and maintained property." Pedersen felt that documentation was needed of the city's opposition and the degradation of the LOS on Crescent Road.

Indian Creek Bridge

One other concern was raised by Glendening on November 30, 1994. Was the existing bridge over Indian Creek on Sunnyside Avenue adequate? He called for an evaluation of the adequacy of that bridge.

New Funds to BARC Announced by Hoyer

Congressman Steny Hoyer recently announced that the House of Representatives has passed the Fiscal Year 1997 Agriculture Appropriations bill, which includes significant funding for key projects in the Fifth Congressional District. Hoyer, a member of the Appropriations Committee, took a lead role in securing funding for the local projects contained in the final version of the bill.

The bill includes $4.5 million in funding to continue the modernization of the Beltsville Agricultural Research Center (BARC). Funding for next year will be used to complete design, prepare the site, and begin construction of the Beltsville Human Nutrition Research Center. The Center will study the role of food in optimizing human health and is the world's only laboratory for the development of new methods of food analysis. To date, Hoyer has worked to secure more than $110 million for a major upgrade of BARC's research facilities and infrastructure.

In addition, the bill allocates $2.288 million to the Institute for Natural and Environmental Sciences, a joint effort between the University of Maryland and the Beltsville Agricultural Research Center. The funding will be used to complete the construction of four state-of-the-art research greenhouses at the University, as well as a facility at BARC to study gene transfer technology. An additional component to the Institute, a Center for Watershed Ecology, will be built entirely with funds provided by the State of Maryland.

The Chesapeake Bay Aquaculture project is an innovative program that has facilitated enormous progress in Maryland's growing aquaculture industry. Hoyer announced that this project will

Hager Francis, Director of the Prince George's County Department of Public Works and Transportation. She asked both officials to provide the city council with copies of their agencies' positions "regarding the capacity of Sunnyside Road to handle the additional traffic (generated by the USDA complex)."

Bram wanted to know why no improvements were scheduled for Sunnyside Road from Edmonston Road to the CSX tracks, when Edmonston Road improvements were being slated to facilitate traffic from the Capital Beltway up to Sunnyside.

This "appears to be a scenario set up for failure," she said. She explained that "traffic studies indicate that 35% of the traffic generated by this new office complex will arrive via Kenilworth-Edmonston-Sunnyside Roads."

Reportedly, a recommendation of the county's department of transportation for improvements of the Rhode Island-Sunnyside intersection was not accepted.

College Park Involvement

In the meantime, USDA offireceive $370,000 in FY '97, to be matched by State funding. The funding will allow continued research on the production of striped bass.

cials made a presentation before the College Park Council on Monday night. A joint meeting of College Park and Greenbelt councils is expected to take place in the near future.

No position on the USDA complex has been taken by the College Park City Council. There is concern about increased development, particularly in the northwest quadrant of the Route 1-Capital Beltway interchange where about 450,000 square feet of mixed use development (retail/office/residential) on a 45-acre tract is proposed by The West Group. In the south-west quadrant, the Michael Company proposes Commercial Shopping Center development on 21.5 acres.

These, and other, proposed

Ottilie Van Allen: Doing What Needs Doing

by Virginia Beauchamp

The daughter of German socialists, Ottilie Van Allen, last year's Outstanding Citizen of Greenbelt, was brought up with the view that has been her life-long principle—to look around and see "what needs doing; what will make things better for everybody." At age 92, since winning the city's highest accolade, she still refuses to rest on her laurels. If people need help which she can provide, they'll find her helping.

When she first came to Greenbelt, retiring after 15 years as a physical therapist at a tuberculosis sanitarium, what she found to do was to tutor elementary students who needed help with math and science. One man, now a bank teller, recently introduced himself to her as a former pupil. "Evidently I had some success," she says.

Now, to be useful, she reaches back to one of her earliest skills—learned before she herself went to school—the art of knitting. Understanding that many homeless children need mittens to get them through the winter, she fills her evenings, winter and summer, in creating mittens. In two such evenings she can make a pair.

An active member of the Paint Branch Unitarian Church, she contributes to the annual mitten tree there each Christmas. Often members buy mittens she has created to give as gifts for their own children, or for the tree, and she donates the cash to the church. Last year she made $400 for the church in this way. The yarn comes free—donations by friends who "remove their own guilt," she says, from projects left undone.

"I have fun with it," Van Allen says. Describing how she likes to combine yarns of different colors in making up the mittens, she commented that some yarns invite her to create other items, like infant afghans and sweaters. She will no longer use wools finer than 4-ply, however, since her eyesight is deteriorating. She has cataracts coming on in both eyes. "But I can still thread a needle," she says proudly.

Winning the Award

Was she surprised to have been chosen as Outstanding Citizen? Not in the sense that she was unaware she had been nominated in previous years. The committee that makes the choice had sent her a letter in an earlier year, congratulating her as a contender.

But, yes, she was surprised in 1995 when she was called forward to receive the award. Her daughter-in-law, Norma, had had to make up a story to get her to the event, and to be sure that she had put on a clean dress. Norma has since shared in some of the fruits of that award—like dinners out at nearby restaurants. But they have yet to use a credit for a stay at a beach hotel; they can't figure out what to do with the dog with whom they share their lives.

Selling her Home

A major life change has occurred since last September, however; that is the giving up of her Greenbelt home. Formerly a resident of 18 court of Ridge, Ottilie has now moved in with Norma, also a widow. "It's not so lonely," Ottilie says.

Getting her GHI house ready for sale has become a major enterprise. When she bought, one took a house "as is." Now GHI requires an inspection that mandates that the seller bring the property up to standard. "It's a good thing," Van Allen says. "I approve of it."

Nevertheless the process has required an investment and the hiring of contractors to carry out various projects. "This week they're sanding the floor," she said. "Then they'll put on new varnish. The house will be better than it ever was for me when I lived in it," she said ironically.

Family Connections

Van Allen's younger son lives in Denver, where he does upper atmosphere research in such things as the ozone hole. His wife, a native of Switzerland, does research on glacial water. Some half dozen times she has visited the South Pole. Van Allen's son is also a hot air balloonist and an avid pilot who owns his own plane.

Yet her parents, his grandparents, were forward-looking too. They came to this country as immigrants when she was only eight. Already speaking English, her father answered an ad for a German translator and found a job at once handling business correspondence for the Philadelphia Museum. Ottilie herself, at 50, training with women less than half her age, began a new career in occupational therapy. In this work she taught skills in all the crafts, such as pottery, woodworking, and sewing, helping recovering invalids to work their muscles and build up their strength. In other words, whatever needed doing.

Ottilie Van Allen has been a volunteer proof reader for the Greenbelt News Review for decades. In this photo taken in 1985, she is busy at work at the paper's old basement offices at Parkway.

Host Families Needed

During the last several autumns, Greenbelt families have opened their homes to a small number of visiting exchange students from Denmark. This fall we are still in need of host families for two students.

The students from Denmark will arrive on September 1 and depart around December 1. They are all 22 to 24 years old and have just graduated from Odense Business College in Odense, Denmark. They will be working as non-paid interns in a variety of local organizations. A host family provides room and board for the three-month stay; the visitors provide their own local transportation and spending money.

This exchange program, organized cooperatively between Prince George's Community College (PGCC) and Odense Business College, allows an equal number of PGCC students to spend the fall semester in Denmark. For both the American and Danish exchange students, the program provides an opportunity for an international internship experience, better preparing them for a career in an ever-shrinking world.

Host families also benefit through this international cultural exchange. It's both interesting and fun to get to know an international visitor on a personal basis. The friendships that develop can last a lifetime. Those with a spare bedroom who are interested in this opportunity may call Bob Spear (301-441-1063) for more information.

Telecommunications Act to Be Discussed

The Telecommunications Act of 1996 is the headliner of a seminar scheduled for Wednesday, August 14, from 7 to 9:30 p.m. at Bowie City Hall. The Act is expected to have an impact on condominiums, cooperatives and homeowner associations. It will preempt associations from enforcing any rule or covenant prohibiting satellite dishes under one meter in diameter, or antennas used for digital television reception.

The seminar is organized by the Chesapeake Chapter of the Community Association Institute (CAI), and the City of Bowie's Technology and Communications Committee. CAI represents homeowners and their boards of directors.

For fee information and further questions, call CAI at 301-249-0860 or 703-548-8600.

POLICE BLOTTER

Based on Information Released by the Greenbelt Police Department

A hit and run fatality occurred on Saturday, August 3 shortly before 12:43 a.m. on Kenilworth Avenue between Ivy Lane and Cherrywood Lane. Police responding to the scene found that a pedestrian had been struck by a vehicle which had left the scene of the accident. The victim, 43 year-old Kelvin L. Bennett of no fixed address, was apparently crossing the northbound lane of Kenilworth when he was struck by a northbound vehicle that apparently continued to travel north on the highway. Bennett was transported by Maryland State Police Helicopter to Suburban Hospital in Bethesda where he was pronounced dead at 3:35 a.m. The vehicle suspected of hitting Bennett is described as a Cadillac Fleetwood, light blue or grey in color, with probable body damage to the right front side. The vehicle should be missing a right front headlight and its radio antennae. Investigation is continuing.

An elderly couple were victims of a strong arm robbery in the area of Crescent Road and Lakeside Drive on Tuesday, July 30 at about 8:37 p.m. The victims advised that they were approached by two men who demanded money and a watch that one of the victims was wearing. The suspects concealed their faces, one with a white towel and the other with some type of cloth. The suspects fled the area on foot, going behind the Greenbelt Library towards the Youth Center. The suspect using the cloth is described as being possibly black, 6' tall and wearing a dark shirt and dark shorts. The other suspect, using a white towel, was possibly white, 5'10" in height, and wearing dark clothing.
